JACKSON CITY ITEMS

Local Happenings About Amador's County Seat

Miss Winnie Dufrene has resigned her place as assistant in the Jackson post office, and has been succeeded by Miss Mamie Scapuzzi.

J. F. Wilson, Dentist. Hours 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Phone—Office, Main 75; residence. black 394; Jackson.

Leon George Whitaker of Oakland and Miss Marie Martha Ellis of Stony Creek were united in marriage by Hon. Judge Fred V. Wood in Jackson, on Wednesday, November 26th.

Master Raymond McKinley Ninnis, who is a scholar in Miss Connor's room is able to be about again. The young lad had a severe attack of bronchitis, and was confined to his bed for several weeks as a result. The doctor says Raymond will soon be able to resume his studies.

The Woman's Improvement club will meet Saturday November 19, at 2 o'clock in the school house. All members are requested to attend.

McGary has a large line of fine dress goods to select from.

Word was received from Jackson's band master, Archie S. Moore, who is in Berkeley completing final arrangements for his marriage to Miss Edith Baker. He says in part, "Everything is happy, and moving along to the happy outcome."

Melva Barker, the little daughter of John Barker, who has been quite ill, is up and playing again.

A fine rain fell during last night with every indication of more to come.

Quarantine Flag Out

The yellow quarantine flag has been hung at the residence of A. Dal Porto on Broadway, as the result of the discovery of a case of diphtheria at his home. A young son of Mr Dal Porto is the victim, although the child is not sick enough to be bed-fast. The health authorities deemed it advisable to quarantine the place, and prevent a possible chance of epidemic of the disease.

Cupid Won Out Against Heavy Odds

Cupid scored another victory last Sunday when he led Miss Sophie Milosovich and Chris Bergovich to the altar, and had them knotted as man and wife.

Judge Wood tied the knot and Senator A. Caminetti bestowed the blessings upon the young couple. Several weeks ago an attempt to elope was made, but it was thwarted in the nick of time, and the elopers were brought back to the city. Legal difficulties arose in the matter, and considerable trouble was encountered in settling the affair. However, A. Caminetti, who was attorney for the defendant managed to arrange a peaceful settlement, and Judge Wood was then requested to officiate at the wedding which was held at the home of the groom, near Jackson Gate. After the ceremony, the guests were treated to a sumptuous dinner, this being followed by a dance which continued until the early morning hours of the day following.

R. C. Bole Seriously Ill

Robert C. Bole is confined to his bed at his home on north Main street, suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. Dr. Endicott is attending the patient. He has secured the services of a trained nurse.

Married Amador Man

Nevada City, November 15.—Miss Anna Guenther was married to Ray C. Payton of Amador City, at the bride's home on Boulder street to-day. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Josiah Sims of the Congregational church.

The young couple left on the early morning train for the coast, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will live in Amador City.

Miner Has Narrow Escape from Death

Last Thursday while Mart Bertolino was engaged at his work on the twenty seventh level in the Kennedy mine, a large boulder became loosened and fell from the hanging wall striking him on the head, inflicting an ugly gash just above the right temple, and then striking the wrist of the right arm, breaking the bones of that member. The unfortunate man was hastened to the office of Dr. A. M. Gall, where proper medical attention was given him. Bertolino resides at the Central hotel, and is unmarried.

Miner's Back Is Severely Injured

While working on the 27 hundred level in the Kennedy mine last Saturday night, Thomas H. George met with a painful accident. The miner was unloading timber from the skip when a huge block fell, striking him across the small of his back, and rendering him unconscious for a short time. He was hastened to the surface and medical aid summoned. The injured man was then removed to his place of residence, 179 Main street, where he boards with Adam Huberty. The doctor reports his patient as doing nicely, and says he will soon be able to be up and about.

N. D. G. W., CELEBRATE Grand President Visits Local Parlor and Is Entertained

Ursula Parlor No. 1, N. D. G. W., was the recipient Tuesday evening of an official visit from the grand president of the order, Mrs Mamie G. Peyton, of Stockton. Mrs Peyton, during her stay in Jackson, was the guest of Mrs Jas. Jay Wright, district deputy for Amador county. The officers and committees of Ursula parlor made elaborate preparations for this official visit, and the hall was tastefully decorated in her honor. The work of the order was exemplified, and instructions received on various matters pertaining to the work and policies of the order. A banquet was served in honor of the distinguished guest in the banquet rooms of the Odd Fellows' hall. Mrs Peyton is a gentle and refined woman of great tact and high executive ability. Her visit here endeared her to the hearts of the loyal members of the order and won a host of friends for herself and the progressive policies which she represents. On Wednesday she was escorted by the president of Ursula parlor and her aids to Amador City, where she made her official visit to California parlor that evening. On Thursday evening she was the guest of Amapola parlor in Sutter Creek, whence she proceeds to Plymouth and Volcano on her official visits to Forrest and Conrad parlors. The parlors of Amador county are the only ones which make it their rule to escort the grand president by private conveyance from one parlor to another within the county.

Newly Weds Given Delightful Surprise

A very enjoyable time was held at the home of Virgilio Garbarini in South Jackson, on Tuesday evening, when a large circle of friends assembled to serenade Virgilio and his bride. The party consisted of Mr and Mrs Joseph Ratto, Lottie Miller, Kate Cavalero, Mrs Cassella, Gertrude Garbarini Charles Tam, Frank Valvo, Dave Brisco, G. Guisto, Elmer Dickens, Irvin Leach, Dave Dondero, Chester Pardini, Julius Picardo, S. Michelotti, James Fontenrose, Pete Quilici, and Elmer Boydston.

A mandolin club furnished music for the serenaders. After giving several war-whoops outside the Garbarini residence, the party was invited into the house, where everything was done to give the serenaders a merry time. Refreshments were served, and vocal and instrumental music also formed part of the program.

Reserved seats for the local show entitled "Honor of a Cowboy," will be on sale at Spagnoli's drug store on and after Wednesday next.

SUICIDE NEAR SUTTER CREEK

Young Man Blows Head Off With Shot-Gun

On Sunday evening James Truscott committed suicide by shooting himself in the head at his home just west of Sutter Creek.

James lived with his parents, Mr and Mrs John Truscott, who can advance no motive for the rash act committed by their son. He was a man of temperate habits, aged about 35 years, and well liked by a large circle of friends.

The particulars of this lamentable affair are as follows:

Deceased partook of a hearty supper on Sunday evening, and on leaving the table told his parents that he was going to Sutter Creek, and that he would not be gone long. He left home about 5 o'clock, and returned about 10 p. m. His parents had retired for the night, but were not asleep when he entered the house.

He went directly to his room and prepared himself for bed. Shortly after he retired, the report of a gun was heard.

John Truscott, who is in feeble health urged his wife to go and call James, and have him find out who was shooting so near their home. Mrs Truscott hastened to the room of her son, where she met the ghastly spectacle of her own boy with his head blown off.

An old shotgun which was kept loaded for use on skunks, and coyotes, was the weapon selected to commit the deed. It is thought that he placed the muzzle of the shotgun in his mouth and pulled the trigger.

The mother, frenzied with grief, ran hysterically into Sutter Creek, calling out every one she knew along the road.

Dr. McLaughlin of Sutter Creek was called and he accompanied the mother back to her home. Seeing that nothing could be done, as death was instantaneous, he called up coroner Potter, at Plymouth, and informed him of the affair.

It is reported that while in town that evening he had indulged in liquor with friends. He was in a despondent mood, and told one of his friends upon leaving for home that he intended to kill himself.

A coroner's inquest was held on Monday, and a verdict rendered to the effect that death was due to suicide by shooting.

The funeral was held on Wednesday from his late home, interment in the Odd Fellow's cemetery in Sutter Creek, by the side of a brother who was killed in a mine a number of years ago.

Keen Interest Taken In Local Talent Show

Jackson's local theatrical talent have under way a Milo Drama, which promises to score a great success on the 26th of this month, when it is scheduled to be presented in Love's hall.

The play is entitled, "The Honor of a Cowboy." It is a four act sketch of western life. Many of Jackson's leading citizens have parts in the show, and are rehearsing their parts zealously so that nothing will mar the show when presented.

Those who have leading parts in the play are. S. F. Dal Porto, Wm. Snyder, Wm. Schroeder, Roy B. Skelly, Ernest Lemin, Robt. Kerr, L. J. Craddock, Chas. Cademartori, Miss Mamie Scapuzzi, Miss Inez Tam, Miss Hilda Sanguinetti and Miss Eda Dal Porto.

The show is given under the auspices of the Jackson Military band. Moore's orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion.

Two special scenes have been painted for the play by Marcucci and Mortimer. Between the acts at the show, specialties will be introduced, Harvey Mason will render a bass solo, entitled, "The Banolero," at the intermission of the first and second act. A duet from Lucia by Billie Endicott, will be played between the second and third acts, and Eda Dal Porto will render a selection entitled, "Spanish Serenade," at the intermission of the third and fourth acts.

Give your former Jackson friend a year's subscription to the Ledger. It will make a fine Christmas present.

Wedding Bells Ring for Jackson Couple

Wedding bells rang early on Wednesday morning last, for Miss Ida Raggio, and Jack Healey, who were made man and wife by Rev. Father Greeley at the parsonage of St. Patrick's church. The newly weds left Jackson for Sacramento, where a short visit will be made.

Mr and Mrs Healey will return to this city later and take up a home. Jack is employed in the mill at the Kennedy mine, where he has a host of friends who wish him much success in his new adventure.

Father Laffan Detached from Parish

The many friends of Rev. Father Laffan, will be sorry to learn of his detachment from the Jackson parish. He is succeeded by Rev. Father J. Greeley who has been appointed by the bishop as assistant to Father Gleason. The parish comprises Jackson, Clinton, Lone and Galt.

Father Laffan, after a short vacation will be assigned to another field.

The winter schedule of services in effect are mass at 8 and 10 o'clock a. m. the first Sunday of each month, and all other Sundays, mass at 10 o'clock a. m. Rosary and benediction at 7 p. m. every Sunday evening.

SUPERVISORS IN SESSION

Canvass Election Returns and Hear New Business

The board of supervisors met Monday last, all members present.

All the returns of the general election held on Tuesday November 8, 1901 having been received, the board proceeded to canvass the same, and found the result as given elsewhere in tabular form in this issue.

On motion duly made and carried, said respective candidates who received the highest number of votes, were declared duly elected.

Mrs Eddy of Sutter Creek was allowed the sum of $15 per month, for support of Cobb orphans.

It is ordered by the board of supervisors of Amador county that the application of John L. Henry for a franchise for the erection of masts, poles and superstructure for the suspension of wires for the conducting of electric current be granted and that the sum be fixed for hearing on the 5th day of December, 1910, and that the time and place of hearing thereof be published in the Amador Dispatch.

The following communication was read as follows:

Sutter Creek, Nov. 14, 1910.
To the board of supervisors of Amador county.

I will build a 12x38x10 foot high all galvanized corrugated iron building to cover the county rock crusher for the sum of $240.

Respectfully,
D. V. Ramazzotti.

On motion made and carried, said offer of D V Ramazzotti was accepted. Adjourned until December 5, 1910.

Little Miss Injured

While out playing one day last week, Erma Dornan, the six year old daughter of Mr and Mrs Dave Dornan, became entangled in a barbed wire fence, and received severe lacerations to her face and body before she could be extracted. Dr. Endicott rendered professional aid. The injuries were not serious.

Expert Optician Coming

An expert optician from the well-known and reliable firm of Chas. Bernetta Co., will visit Jackson next Monday, for the purpose of testing eyesight and furnishing spectacles or glasses to suit. The work of the employees of this company can be depended upon. He will be here for one day only, and will not be here again for two or three months. Take this opportunity for having glasses fitted to suit your sight.

Cheapest accident insurance—Dr Thomas' Eclectic Oil. Stops the pain and heals the wound. All druggists sell it.

MINE NEWS ALONG LODGE

Interesting Accounts of Mines Located In Amador Co.

Bunker Hill

The monthly clean-up fell somewhat short of the usual yield owing to the fact that the large bodies of ore taken out in development work had to be disposed of. It was slightly below the average grade of rock crushed formerly, but still good milling rock, and the only way to dispose of it was to keep the mill going on it, and this course still left a large accumulation of ore that the 20 stamp mill was unable to handle. There is ample ore being taken out at present in the prosecution of development work only to keep forty stamps going. The yield last month was under $20,000. The regular dividend of five cents per share was paid on the 15th.

The 1950 level continues to open up in fine shape. The drift has penetrated the ledge a distance of 500 feet, and the ore at the breast is almost identical in grade with that encountered in the 1750 level. It gives every promise of being equal both in size and richness to that in the level above.

The addition of twenty stamps to the mill is making satisfactory progress. The building was being inclosed with galvanized iron the first of the week. The batteries are ready to be put in place, and all other machinery will be ready as soon as needed. It is expected to have the forty stamps dropping some time in January.

Hardenburg

An immense wheel passed through Jackson Sunday bound for the Hardenburg. It required an eight animal team to haul it from Martell depot to its destination. The preliminary work of making a road, etc., preparatory to commencing work on the new three compartment shaft, is proceeding rapidly. The property is in the hands of first class men, who understand what mining on the mother lode of Amador county means, and who have all the capital necessary for the proper development work, and are not timid about using it. Negotiations for other mining claims in the vicinity are also in progress.

Terrible Experience In Mine Shaft

What came near proving a fatal accident to Glenn W. Gilbert of Jackson, while working in the South Eureka mine at Sutter Creek last Sunday, resulted in the fracture of the bones of the ankle in the right leg.

Gilbert got on the skip at the 16 hundred level and started up, and at some junction between the 16 and 12 hundred level the skip left the track and bumped against the sides of the shaft. The young miner attempted to jump from the car as it passed a drift, and in so doing, his leg became fastened and he was carried upwards some distance before he was released. He managed to save himself by holding to the sills in the shaft, and then worked his way down to a drift which was a difficult and painful task owing to his broken leg. Dr. McLaughlin of Sutter Creek is attending the injury.

Groceryman Has Attack of Sickness

Steve Coporeich, who conducts a grocery store on Broadway, just south of the bridge, was stricken with sickness last Friday at Milosovich's board ing house, where he was residing. Dr. Gall was called in to prescribe for the patient, and found him suffering with pneumonia. He had Coporeich removed to the home of Peter Meiss on Tuesday, and immediately ordered a trained nurse from Stockton, who arrived on Tuesday night. Although the groceryman is very sick, nothing grave is anticipated by the doctor.

Recovering Nicely

Lew Wearne, who has been abed for the past week, suffering with a severe attack of pneumonia, is improving nicely. The physician who is attending the patient says if no unforeseen setbacks occur, his patient will have a speedy recovery. Miss Juisto, a trained nurse from this city, is taking care of Wearne.

EXPLAINING THE SETBACK.

Naturally, the set-back to the republican party in the elections last week is ascribed to different causes, to suit the notions of the individual explainer. No doubt a number of causes contributed to the result. But "insurgent" republicanism was unquestionably the principal factor. It will be well for that faction to foot up the profit and loss account, with the view of satisfying themselves whether it pays from either a patriotic or political standpoint to play into the hands of democracy in the way they have done. Taking the plain, matter-of-fact view, they should see that democracy only has profited, and republicanism has lost by their dissensions. Continued strife, according to the logic of events, means a further sapping, temporarily at least, of the strength of the republican party, with the probable loss of the presidential election two years hence. The menace of a democratic administration is the issue that now confronts the nation, with the appalling disturbance of business conditions that must inevitably follow from such a "reactionary" triumph. The mere shadow of such an event as it is now pictured upon the future, cannot fail to exert a depressing effect upon trade for the coming two years. Insurgent doctrine are not likely to gain the upper hand and shape the destinies of the republican party. The result of the election in New York state should be sufficient to impress this truth upon every impartial observer. Rooseveltism, championed with all the energy of Roosevelt himself, who had taken it upon himself to assume the dictatorship of the republican party, and rename it "new nationalism," was beaten to a frazzle, to use his own expression. It was up to the republicans of New York to decide whether the old and tried or the new and untried spirit should prevail. It was the paramount issue with them, dwarfing the question whether republicans or democrats should hold the state offices for the ensuing term. And they responded decisively against the so-called amended edition. Roosevelt does not accept the result as a personal rebuke, and a repudiation of his leadership and his new gospel of republicanism. He threatens to continue his work along the same lines. Nevertheless, in spite of his protest, it was a body-blow at himself and his pretensions, and intended as such. Further efforts to control the party organization will leave his motives open to further question. It might be regarded as a deliberate attempt to split the party. The insurgency movement has seemingly passed its flood, with the downfall of Roosevelt in New York.

HIGH PRICES MEAN GOOD TIMES.

The cry raised against the republican party at this time is that prices are too high. It costs much more to live nowadays than it did in the days when the democratic party was handling the reins of government. High prices, as a rule, spell prosperity; while low prices mean depression. What does it matter if a steep rate is demanded for all kind of necessities, if wages are correspondingly advanced. Where the cost of living is high, money is generally abundant, and times are good; the wage-earner can pay his way with reasonable economy, and still have something left to add to his bank account. With low prices, the labor market is glutted, money is scarce, employment difficult to get at reduced wages; it is a hand to mouth proposition all around with producers and consumers alike. To-day, with all the hue and cry about high prices, the farmer—who is an index to the condition of all other classes—is prosperous; he can sell his product at good prices. The farmer wants a paying price for what he has to sell, even if he does have to pay a little more for the articles that he has to buy. Prosperity that touches the laborer with abundance of work at maximum wages and at the same time enable him to buy all he requires at minimum rates, is a dream—a thing of the imagination only. In the dull times of 1896—the period of democratic tariff tinkering—with the price of ten bushels of corn the farmer could buy one pair of shoes and have 60 cents left. To-day with the same amount of corn he can trade for two pairs of shoes and have over a dollar to spare. It is natural to kick when everything is dear, but there is generally room for a bigger howl when everything is cheap.

Measuring Reflected Brightness—A Fire-proof Box—Dazzling Lights Harmful—Typhoid and Floods—Tunnel Wall—Laid by Hose—Increasing Interest in Astronomy—Piers Sunk by Pile-Driver—Long-Dormant Memory—Stage Daylight.

The "Lumeter" is an instrument designed by J. S. Dow and V. H. Mackinney, British opticians, to measure the surface brightness of illuminated objects, and it gives a simple means of studying the distribution of lighting. The illuminated object under test is viewed through an aperture in an illuminated screen, which is kept at uniform brightness by a suitably-placed small glow lamp. The relative brilliancy of the observed surface and the screen can be adjusted until they appear equal, and a graduated scale then indicates the surface brightness of the object under test as compared with the standard illuminated screen. Trials of the instrument in classrooms, work-rooms, etc., have shown surprising variations in the lighting of interiors. In a technical college class-room, 25 by 30 feet in size, with large windows on the street side, the illumination of the best lighted desk at 5 o'clock on a September day was 10 foot-candles, while that of the poorest seat was only 0.6 foot-candle, and the illumination of the blackboard varied from 5-foot-candles at one end to 0.5 at the other. In one of London's underground tubes, the horizontal illumination was 1.1 to 1.3 foot candles with the train at rest, falling to 0.7 to 0.9 foot-candle on entering the tunnel.

A new French case for protecting money, jewels and important papers from fire consists of two asbestos boxes of different size, one being placed within the other and prevented from touching by a number of asbestos blocks. The poorly conducting asbestos and the insulating air space combine to keep the inner box quite cool while the outer one is strongly heated.

The glare of artificial lights has been found by Prof. Gariel, of Paris, to be far more injurious to the eyes than their ultra-violet rays. He urges that the shades used should not only cut out the ultra-violet rays, but should diffuse the light so that it will show no dazzling spots to the eye.

Typhoid fever and other epidemics prove to be diminished by floods, instead of being increased, as has been supposed. The former conclusion has been reached by Jacques Bertillon, a French investigator, after a study of the effects of the great 1910 inundation of Paris and of serious floods in a number of other European cities. Aside from the cleansing action of the water, however, it is probable that after disasters health officers give more thorough attention than ordinarily to disinfection and to isolating cases of disease. Comparing the flooded sections of Paris with those not reached by water, it was found that typhoid fever was rather more prevalent in the latter; and in 54 flooded areas there were 44 deaths in 13 weeks before the flooding and only 24 in the same number of weeks following. In 10 floods in Dresden and 6 in Vienna no increase of typhoid resulted. Encasing a tunnel lining with grouting from a flexible hose has been successfully tried on a Swiss railway. A mixture of 162 pounds of Portland cement to 9 gallons of water was used in a cylindrical vessel holding about 80 gallons, the cement being kept stirred by a hand-revolved paddle, and compressed air at about 78 pounds per square inch was admitted to the cylinder through a pipe entering the top. The lining being perforated with 7 to 9 holes, the water back of it was forced out by a strong blast of air. The cement mixture was then forced through the hose into these holes by the air pressure in the cylinder, and on hardening made the lining quite watertight.

The astronomical observatories are found by a British astronomer to have increased from 60 officially recognized in 1859 to 230 at the present time. Of those now existing, the United States and the British Empire have 105; Germany, 31; Austria, 16; Italy, 16; Russia, 14; France, 12; and the remainder are scattered in Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Finland, Holland, Japan, Mexico, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the South American republics. The Northern Hemisphere has 12 times as many as the Southern.

The novel plan of sinking concrete piers by means of the old pile-driver seems to have given satisfaction to French Government engineers and others. It is called the "Compressol" system, and is used for preparing solid foundations in loose earth for buildings, bridges, etc. The ground around is consolidated as the sustaining piers are sunk. A conical steel mass, called the "perforator," somewhat less than 3 feet in diameter at the base and rather more than 2 tons in weight, is used in an ordinary pile-driver for making the pier well, being repeatedly drawn up by the base and released until a hole in the ground sufficiently deep is formed. The soil immediately outside is solidly compacted. Timbering or shoring the sides of the excavation are unnecessary, and workmen are not exposed to danger from cave-ins or deleterious gases, as in ordinary digging of deep pits. When the hole is completed, the "rammer"—an acorn shaped mass of metal 30 inches in diameter and weighing 2 tons—takes the place of the perforator. This rams the bottom of the hole until hard, and compresses the concrete as each layer of about a foot is poured on, forcing the material laterally into the soil. The irregular corrugated surface thus given the pier adds much to its supporting capacity. The system is rapid as well as safe, and the compressed wells can be sunk 4 or 5 feet an hour.

Memory handed down through 30 generations is one of the perplexing facts of science. The beaver flourished along French rivers until killed off for its fur, but is now known only in about a dozen of its villages on the Rhodé near Avignon. For three centuries these villages have had no trees to cut down for dams. The animals were compelled to adopt a new mode of life, and have burrowed in the banks, shaping mud with their tails as usual. Recently some of them were taken by a Polish count to forests on his estates. Very strangely, they resumed the habits dropped three centuries before they were born, and at once began cutting trees and building dams.

The stage lighting of Meriano Fortu of Venice is a reflection of arc-lamp rays from strips of light and dark cloth. The light and dark can be varied, and the reflectors, on rollers, can be moved so as to give the best effects. An arching sky strengthens the illusion of diffused daylight.

The following persons are not qualified to make homestead entry:

1. A married woman unless she has been deserted or abandoned by her husband, or unless her husband is incapacitated by disease or otherwise from earning a support for his family.
2. One not a citizen of the United States and one who has not declared his intention to become such.
3. One under 21 years of age, not the head of a family.
4. One who is the proprietor of more than 160 of land in any state or territory, and the ownership of 160 acres and a town lot disqualifies the owner from making entry.
5. One who has acquired title to or is claiming under any of the non-mineral public land laws, through settlement or entry made since August 30, 1910, any other lands which with the lands applied for would amount in the aggregate, to more than 320 acres.
6. One who has previously made homestead entry, unless he is entitled to make second homestead entry, which second entry may be made by:

Who May Not Homestead Land.

The following persons are not qualified to make homestead entry:

- (a) One who commuted a homestead entry prior to June 5, 1900, and has not since that date made another homestead entry.
- (b) One who prior to May 17, 1900, paid for lands in a former Indian reservation to which he would have been entitled to receive patent without payment under the free homes act.
- (c) One who for any cause lost, forfeited or abandoned his homestead entry prior to February 8, 1908, if the former entry was not cancelled for fraud or relinquished for a valuable consideration. Where such entryman sold his improvements or sold the relinquishment of his entry he is not entitled to make a second homestead entry, regardless of the fact that his improvements may have cost him more than the amount he received for them.

One who has already final proofed on less than 160 acres may, if he is otherwise qualified, make an additional entry for such amount of land for which he has already made proof, not to exceed in the aggregate 160 acres.

Fire In Mine

The fire in the Angels mine is still burning, but to what extent is not known, as it is impossible to enter the stope where the fire is burning. Water is being thrown on the grounds above the stope in order that it may possibly reach the fire and extinguish it. Angels Record.

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment, 50 cents at any drug store.

Remains Removed

Dr. C. H. Gibbons, for a number of years a practitioner of medicine and surgery in this city, arrived here from College City, Colusa county, last Friday. He came for the express purpose of having the remains of his wife, who died here about ten years ago, exhumed from the city cemetery, and shipped to College City for interment, by the side of a child who was buried there many years ago. The body was taken up Saturday, and the casket enclosed in a metallic box, in accordance with the regulations of the transportation companies governing such matters. The doctor left Sunday morning, accompanying the remains to their destination.

Dr. Gibbons recently sold an interest in a mine in Alaska, which is in active operation, and we understand doing well. He still holds an interest in the property, and is fairly well fixed financially, according to current rumor.

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave me up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. Its positively guaranteed for stomach, liver or kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50 cents at Spagnoli's drug store.

Basis of Confidence

The fact that so many prominent and distinguished business men are patrons of this bank is not in itself perhaps a sufficient reason for your becoming a patron of it until you have investigated and approved the merits of our claims to your confidence, but it is an item of sufficient importance to justify you in making an examination of our claims to merit. The basis of successful banking is capable management, and sound resources which beget public confidence. If we obtain your patronage we want your confidence to come with it.

The Waiter's Tip.

"Splitting a five dollar bill with a waiter when you reach a hotel and promising him the other piece when you leave if well served is a poor game," said a veteran waiter in one of New York's biggest hotels.

"A man tried it on me once, and it made me sore. I took pains to serve him poorly, showing that I did not care for his money. I was so careless that when he was leaving he refused me the other half. I had him sized up for a cheap skate, so I pointed out to him that the piece he had was no good to him as it was and offered to buy it from him for $2. He thought deeply a minute and declined. Then I offered to sell my half for $3. Somehow or other this appealed to him, and he bought it and seemed happy. I'll bet he hasn't stopped figuring out yet whether he won or lost. One thing he's sure of—he didn't tip the waiter."—New York Sun.

A Gentle Hint.

A certain butcher is renowned among his contemporaries for the quaintness and originality of some of his remarks. On a recent evening to a neighboring parish he one day met a gentleman who at the time owed him for some meat. After a salutation the gentleman remarked:

"That's a fine fat dog you have, Alexander."

"See weel he may, sir," was the reply. "For he has an easy conscience and is out o' debt, and that's mair than you or I can say."

The hint was taken, and the butcher got his money next day.—London Answers.

Food and Fresh Air.

You can live forty days without food, but you cannot live four minutes without air. These things being true, is it wise to stuff ourselves with food and starve ourselves for want of air?

She Wasn't Afraid.

A crowd gathered on the street to watch a handsome fox terrier that was running about, nose in air. White froth was running from the dog's mouth.

"He's mad!" yelled a fat man.

The fox terrier stood in the center of the group with wide open eyes, either too mad or too frightened to move.

At this juncture the policeman arrived. A dozen voices began to tell him that the dog was mad; that it must be killed; that it had been snapping at the children; that it began to froth when it passed a pool of water, and how best to shoot.

A tall, quiet looking woman pushed through the crowd and started toward the dog. A dozen men yelled at her. Two or three men grabbed at her.

She picked the dog up and started out of the crowd. The policeman stopped her with:

"Madam, that dog is mad. He must be shot. Look at the foam coming out of his mouth."

"Foam!" she said contemptuously. "That's a cream puff he was eating."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Printing a Coin on Linen.

The print of a silver coin or medal may be made on silk or linen by dipping the fabric in a solution of nitrate of silver and stretching it over the face of the coin until the image is imprinted. The linen is sensitized by dipping it into a solution of nitrate of silver, made by dissolving sixty or eighty grains of nitrate of silver in one ounce of water. Wet the portion of the cloth which is to receive the impression in the solution and when nearly dry draw it over the face of the coin and tie it at the back. Expose to a weak light, and in a few minutes the raised design of the coin will appear on the linen. As soon as the print is dark enough remove and wash in clear water. When nearly dry iron it smooth with a warm iron, placing a piece of tissue paper over the print. In printing from the coin or medal it is advisable to paste a piece of paper on the reverse side, so that the silver will not come in contact with the sensitized fabric.

Student of Shakespeare.

The office boy sat in the corner busily engaged in reading a book. Strange to say, it was not "The Adventures of Bunko Jim," "Daisy Dean, the Demon Detective," nor even a thrilling narrative of more or less correct life on the plains. He was reading Shakespeare.

An expression of peace and joy was on his face that caused those who knew him to wonder if he had at last experienced a change of heart. His eyes sparkled, and his whole expression was one of happiness. Finally he turned to a worker at another desk.

"Say, Jim," he said, "I've got a question for you. Did you ever read Shakespeare?"

"Yep," was the reply.

"And yer know what he talks about?"

"Yep."

"Den maybe you can help me."

"What is it?"

"Well, I want to know which was de man, Romeo or Juliet?"—Youth's Companion.

Losing His Mind.

"Mother, guess you'd better send for 'th' doctor," gasped Uncle Charlie Seaver as he sank into a chair and rocked back and forth, holding his gray head.

"Sakes alive! We haven't been and got 'th' misery in yer head, have ye, Silas?" gasped his astonished wife, dropping a pin.

"I dunno what's the matter, but I've alwus had a hunch my mind 'd go some time. It's cum, I guess. I noticed 'th' trouble first last week when I plumb forget to go up an' swear off 'th' $100 assessment till it was too late. Then I neglected to go to 'th' school meetin' last night to fight agin the new commissioner. But, wuss and wuss, I didn't guess within eleven pound seven ounces of 'th' weight of Wal Weaver's big hog killed today. I guess my mind has gone all right. 'I'm about all in.'—Puck.

Tuning Forks.

The tuning fork was the invention of John Stoen, royal trumpeter, in 1811. Though the pitch of forks varies slightly with changes of the temperature or by rust, they are the most accurate means of determining pitch. Tuning forks are capable of being made of any pitch within certain limits, but those commonly used are the notes A and C, giving the sounds represented by the second and third spaces in the treble staff.

An Incentive.

"Won't you try to love me?" he sighed.

"I have tried," she replied kindly, but firmly.

"My rich aunt has just died," he went on.

"In that case, dear, I will try again."—Puck.

A Blunt Answer.

Mother (to her daughter)—You'd better accept Peter, my dear. He is a nice boy, though he may not be handsome. After all, good looks fade, don't they, papa? Father—Rather!—Fleegende Blatter.

WINNING A WIDOW

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

In and around what is called the Beecher settlement, which was a settlement of farmers, there were three widowers and seven young men who were looking for wives. At the same time there was a scarcity of marriageable girls, and the only widow for five miles around was the Widow Harkins, who had lately bought a farm and moved into the community.

The Widow Harkins was thirty-five. She was good looking and smart. She had a captivating way, and she had only got settled down when the widowers and the young men began to prick up their ears. It was common sense to figure that the widow would marry again if the right man came along.

One of the first Beechers to call was Lyman. He was one of the widowers. For two years he had had his eye out for a widow with a well stocked farm. He was received in a very friendly spirit. The widow looked neat and trim, and she smiled and laughed and chatted in a way that made his heart go tunking. She referred to her lonely situation and then referred to the fact that her hired man was behind with his work. There was plowing to be done, but she was afraid he would not get to it until too late for corn planting.

Lyman Beecher had never done anything for anybody without pay, but on this occasion, much to his surprise, he found himself volunteering to do some plowing as a neighborly act. He brought over his teams and prepared ten acres for corn. He worked so hard and the widow was so thankful that he was encouraged to state his case. He had a farm, four children, eleven hogs, five cows, forty sheep and several other things, and he would offer his heart and hand to the woman before him. He wasn't thrown over the fence, but was told that he must wait a year for his answer. He didn't like it at all, but the plowing had been done, and he had to grin and bear it.

Next came Goodheart Beecher, widower and cousin of Lyman. He greased his boots and made an evening call. A gallon of hard cider and a pan of fried cakes were placed before him, and the widow got his heart fluttering. There were times when she was, oh, so sad and lonely, and this was one of the times. That cornfield was ready for planting, but she was afraid the hired man could not get around to it. Goodheart Beecher had work enough on his own farm, but there was a sad mouthed little widow looking him straight in the eyes, and he almost begged that she would permit him to plant that field. She finally consented. She also consented that he should buy the seed out of his own pocket. When the work was finished he went up to the house and asked the woman to be his'n, and she put him off as she had the other. His back ached as he walked home, but what could he do about it?

The third man was Moses Beecher. In the same way she induced him to plant five acres of potatoes for her. Then he proposed and was put off for a year.

The young men had been considerably waiting for the widowers to try their luck, and now it was their turn. Young Christian Beecher came forward. He was twenty-three years old, weeded her corn for her, proposed and waited a year.

The fifth was young John Beecher. He was called John the Baptist Beecher. He calmly suggested that she hire a man who could hustle. He called again and again, but he did no work. He advocated kicking the hired man, but did not offer to exert himself.

Things were thus, and the widow was looking around for No. 6, when one day she started for the cross-roads store, a mile away. She cut across lots to shorten the distance, and an old bull took after her and drove her up a ladder leaning against a haystack. He hooked the ladder down, but she had gained the crest of the stack. She was roosting there, and the bull was galloping about and making the dirt fly, when John the Baptist Beecher came along in his buggy. The stack was within talking distance of the road, and the young man halted to ask what was the matter, although the question was superfluous. Of course the widow wanted the bull driven away and to come down.

"Look here, widow," replied the young man as he got out of his buggy and found a comfortable seat on the fence, "I am head over heels in love with you."

"Yes, but shoo the bull away."

"And I'll make you a good husband."

"Yes, but I want to get down."

"And I'll run that farm bang up. I wouldn't hoe the taters, but I believe you love me a bit."

"Oh, John, John!"

"And now you are either going to marry me or be left right up there. I see Squar Beecher coming in his buggy, and he's got one of his girls with him. Will you marry me or stay up there?"

"Must—must I, John?" asked the widow in a trembling voice.

"Can't get out of it. I'm not taking any chances, though. You don't come down until you are my wife."

When the squire came up the situation was explained, and with John the Baptist on the fence and the widow on the haystack they were made one and inseparable, and the bull was driven away, and the honeymoon began, and the taters were taken care of.

INSTALLATION CEREMONY

Ancient Order of Druids Treat Visitors Royal

The United Ancient order of Druids, No. 1161 of Jackson, held their joint installation of officers on Sunday evening last in their lodge rooms in the Odd Fellows building.

The officers installed for the ensuing term are A. A., Domenico Biondi; N. A., Carlo Goodel; V. A., Emilio Sabitini; R. sec., Raffaele Belluzzi; treasurer, Paolo Maruccci; conductor, Serafino Poletti; inside guardian, Luigi Lariglia; outside guardian, Arturo Massei.

Those initiated during the past term were: Maria D. Ambrosio Dallo Guiglia, Biondi Luiggia, Carico Anni, Gardella Maria, Gardello, Secondo.

Many invitations were extended to friends in this city to be present at the services, and following is a list of those who availed themselves of the opportunity to witness the affair which was impressive and interesting.

State senator, A. Caminetti, Judge Fred V. Wood, Dr. A. M. Gall, A. Hambrie grand arch, Bertha Reeg; grand trustee and wife, G. Gollo, of Stockton; Mrs O. Botto, past arch of San Jose, and past arch, P. Domenci, of Stockton.

At the conclusion of the installation, speeches were made by the invited guests, after which the entire assemblage was escorted to the banquet hall, where a sumptuous banquet was spread.

The showing of the society for the past term indicates that it is in a flourishing condition.

Order to Show Cause Why Order Of Sale of Real Estate Should Not be Made.

In the superior court of the county of Amador, state of California.

In the matter of the persons and estates of Elvie H. Troyan, Hilda J. Troyan, and John G. H. Troyan, minors.

It appearing to this court from the petition this day presented and filed by Amanda Emma Troyan, the guardian of the persons and estates of, Elvie H. Troyan, Hilda J. Troyan, and John G. H. Troyan, minors, praying for an order of sale of certain real estate belonging to said wards, and that it is for the best interests of said wards, and necessary that such real estate should be sold;

It is hereby ordered that the next of kin of said wards, and all persons interested in the said estate, appear before this court on Saturday, the 12th day of November, 1910, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the court room of this court, in the city of Jackson, county of Amador, state of California, then and there to show cause why an order should not be granted for the sale of such estate.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published at least once a week for three successive weeks before the day of hearing, in the Amador Ledger, a newspaper printed and published in said county of Amador.

Dated October 11, 1910.

FRED V WOOD, Judge

Big Shoe Sale

A big consignment of boots and shoes came by express to Jackson Sunday night. It required two tips of the baggage wagon to bring the pile of boxes to this city from the Martell station. The stock was from San Francisco to replenish the bankrupt stock of R. S. Bierce, which has been purchased by a firm in the city. S. Wolff and another salesman came up Sunday to arrange the goods for a great sale. The sale started Thursday, and is announced to continue for thirty days. It is the intention to dispose of everything at a sacrifice. Mr Bierce, the former proprietor, left for Sacramento last week.

Deafness Can not be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars or any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

PROBATION ORDER RIGID

Prisoner Afforded Ample Provisions However, to Reform

On Monday morning Judge Wood imposed sentence upon C. McAuliffe, who pleaded guilty of burglary of the first degree.

The crime was committed on September 10, when McAuliffe broke into and robbed a drug store in Ione.

A Caminetti attorney for the defendant, produced documentary evidence as to the previous good character of McAuliffe, and the defendant himself was put under oath and allowed to testify in his own behalf as to his past conduct. Over indulgence in intoxicants was accredited as his downfall.

The court having heard the evidence, determined that the defendant was guilty of burglary of the first degree, but suspended sentence for a period of six years, from date of order, and placed the prisoner under the surveillance of a probation officer during the suspension of his sentence.

The prisoner was cautioned by the court that he must live up to all the requirements contained in his probation.

McAuliffe was ordered to pay into the county treasury $62.70; at the rate of $12 per month for costs incurred by the county in prosecution, etc. He was also ordered to support and maintain some indigent or dependent child, within the county, such child to be designated by the court from time to time, at the rate of $12 per month. This provision the court explained was not intended as a punishment, but to develop within the defendant a better sense of his responsibility to the community and to mankind by supporting a fellow being, and thereby bearing a portion of the burden of the public whose officers are engaged in working out his reformation. During his entire period of probation the prisoner was cautioned absolutely to abstain from any and all intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and also informed that he may not leave the county without permission of the court. Upon the first day of each month he is required to submit an itemized report of his earnings and labors. If no labor can be secured, a daily report is required.

After paying the county indebtedness, the defendant is ordered to deposit 10 per cent of his earnings each month, in the local bank, which he will only be allowed to draw upon in case of sickness or lack of employment, in meeting his legal obligations. He was cautioned to lead an honorable, moral and industrious life. A bond of $1000 with two sureties approved by the judge of this court was demanded also. After carefully reading the order of probation, the defendant was ordered to place a written certificate with the county clerk that he fully understood the document, and promised to abide by the same.

If at any time during the six years of probation the court learns that the defendant has not lived up to the stipulations, arrest will be ordered and sentence imposed which cannot exceed fifteen years in the state prison.

Toes Badly Crushed

Web Smith, superintendent of the Kennedy mine, had the misfortune to have a toe on his right foot crushed last Saturday. He was standing near the shaft when a rock fell striking him on the foot and inflicting the injury. Dr. Gall was consulted, and treated the injured toe.

Election Sighs

Much money exchanged hands in this city as the result of the election outcome, and several unique bets were also squared by the losers.

Drew Caminetti, who is a staunch advocate of democracy, could not understand how the state would be able to elect any person except Bell for the next governor, and was so firm in his convictions that he wagered a wheel-barrow ride with Ray Harding, from the National hotel to the Globe hotel and return, with provisions that for every time he upset Harding he was to pay him $5 for injuries. Harding, who has shouted for Johnson ever since his nomination jumped at the bargain, and Drew had to push the wheelbarrow and its rider over the proposed course which he did without a mishap.

Zeph Dal Porto, and V. Rocco also entered a similar argument, on the outcome of a certain county office. This course was from the California hotel to the National hotel, with provisions that for every rest made the looser had to pay for the drinks. Rocco perched in the wheelbarrow with Zeph tugging at the handles, presented a side-splitting spectacle to the large crowd of spectators as they wended their way down Main street.

SIMPLE MILK TEST.

How to Determine in a Few Minutes Quality of the Fluid.

The following process for the detection of added water or of skim milk in ordinary milk is more accurate than the simple use of a lactodensimeter without the creamometer check. The whole test can be made in five minutes.

The result does not show whether the adulteration consisted in the addition of water or in the subtraction of cream, but as a rule this matters little to the consumer. What he wants to know is whether or not he got what he paid for.

The suspected milk is stirred with a spoon in order to disseminate into the whole liquid the cream which may have come to the surface. Then one volume of milk is poured into fifty volumes of water—one fluid ounce to two and one-half pints.

A candle is lighted in a dark room. The experimenter takes an ordinary drinking glass with a flat and even bottom and holds it immediately above the candle at a distance of about one foot from it, so as to be able to see the flame of the candle through the bottom of the glass. He then pours slowly the diluted milk into the glass.

The flame becomes less and less bright as the level of the liquid rises into the glass. The flame is soon reduced to a dull white spot. A little more liquid slowly added so as to avoid pouring an excess and the flame becomes absolutely invisible. All that remains to be done is to measure the height of the liquid in the glass, this being most conveniently ascertained by dipping into it a strip of pasteboard and then measuring the wet part. It should measure not over an inch if the milk is pure.

With good quality milk diluted and tested as stated the depth will be about seven-eighths of an inch before the flame is lost to view. A mixture of one volume of milk and half a volume of water should show a depth at one and one-half inches. A depth of two inches indicates either partially skimmed milk or a mixture of one volume of good milk with one of water.—Scientific American.

WASHING OF AUTOMOBILES.

How to Preserve Original Beautiful Luster on the Cars.

How to retain the original beautiful luster of his automobile is a question that interests every motorist, for the owner of a car is usually very finicky about its appearance.

Some automobilists complain that the use of soap has resulted in the streaking and marring of the painted surface of their cars. Edward C. Huhn of Philadelphia, who has made a study of the subject of keeping motorcars in a perennial condition of newness, says that the paint on an automobile can be preserved indefinitely if the soap is dissolved and applied in semiliquid form instead of in its raw state.

In large garage and automobile concerns, where the washing of cars is an important part of each day's work, much unnecessary expense is incurred through a mistaken idea of the means required to get the lather to a proper consistency. Employees of these establishments as well as owners who wash their own cars act on the assumption that it is necessary to use a large piece of soap on a sponge to get the desired lather.

Mr. Huhn suggests that a better and decidedly more economical method is to dissolve twenty pounds of soap in twenty-five gallons of water and to use this solution with water as occasion demands. He figures that a saving of 25 per cent will result in the soap bills of these garages and automobile companies.

How to Patch Wall Paper.

It is not easy to put a new patch on wall paper so that it hardly shows, but if you have an untidy place that needs repapering try the following way: Cut a piece of paper rather larger than you require and if the paper on the wall is faded lay the patch in a sunny place for a day or two. Then brush it over with paste, lay it over the torn place and tear a strip off the patch at each edge, pulling it away from the outside so as to leave a thin edge of the colored part on top. When smoothly pasted down the joint will scarcely show. If the paper is torn before the paste is applied the thin edge gets too sodden and the paste is apt to ooze out and leave a dirty mark all round the patch.

How to Weigh an Automobile.

To obtain the exact weight of an automobile and the weight carried on each pair of wheels it is necessary to use a platform scale—that is, any scale that has a platform sufficiently wide to take the entire length of the machine—then proceed in this manner: First weigh the whole car. Next weigh the back of the car. To do this the middle of the car should be over the edge of the platform. The front of the car should be weighed in the same manner. If this has been carefully done the last two weights when added together should give within twenty pounds of the entire weight of the car.

How to Freshen Up Old Linen.

When table linen becomes worn and shows an open mesh it may be made more presentable if the pieces are ironed while wet. Some recommend using a certain firm texture which, when ironed as above mentioned, restores much of its original beauty and firm texture. While the pieces must be exceedingly damp, every article should be ironed until perfectly dry. Use a No. 9 iron for the purpose. It is large, retains the heat and presses quickly.

Will Sport New Suit

C. H. McKinney of Sutter Creek, who by his loyalty to the republican party assisted in making a good party showing in that town, is among the list of losers over the outcome. He says he is a willing loser at that. His bet with Wm. McGee was that Johnson would carry the state by a majority of 25,000. The stake was a $45 suit of clothing. McGee's measurements have been taken and the new suit is on its way to completion.

Amador County Fruit

Several fine specimens of Amador county pears were brought to this city by R. A. Daniels, a traveling agent for a San Francisco piano house. The pears weighed more than three pounds apiece, and measured more than 18 inches in circumference lengthwise. The fruit was grown on a ranch, located about three miles east of Defender.

D. R. Shafer, who is senior partner of the firm of Shafer & Hagin, dealing in orchard and nursery supplies, paid Jackson a visit this week in the interest of some property which he secured in the lower section of the county. The land is believed to be in a valuable orchard belt, and experiments will be made with the soil along those lines.

Has Good Run

The skating rink managed by Joseph Katto which recently opened in the old skating rink building on Broadway, is liberally patronized by the younger set. This amusement is quite a boom to the city, as it affords amusement that can be indulged in by both sexes. A fine Military pipe organ with trap and brass drums operated by an electric motor, furnishes the music for the skaters.

A Masquerade

A Story of the Eighteenth Century.

By EDITH B. GOLDWIN

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"For shame! You, the son of an earl and a member of one of the proudest families in England, to make a highwayman of yourself. Our betrothal is at an end. Leave me."

The Hon. Alfred Tillotson, younger son of the Earl of Enderby, withdrew without offering a bit of defense, keeping his face while retreating toward the Lady Clara Travis, the plume of his hat trailing on the floor. But, though his bearing was humble, he was not without hope. Did he not know by her heightened color, the tremor in her voice, even a slight moisture in her eye, what she suffered in dismissing him? But would her heart triumph over her resolutions? Clara Travis was not a prude. She was a light hearted girl who could dance till morning at a ball, ride across country, taking fences and ditches by the way, but she would never stoop to injure even an enemy. Indeed, men said of her that her standard of honor was that of an honorable man.

Months passed, and Tillotson saw no alteration in Lady Clara's treatment of him. He looked in vain for the slightest sign of relenting. But if she grieved she did not believe in seduction. She hunted, danced, played at cards with no trifling stake, just as she had done before her disappointment. Tillotson when he met her looked in vain for even recognition. She paled or colored slightly at his approach, but evidently considered one who had taken purses even for amusement unworthy of her acquaintance. When months had passed and there was no reconciliation the lover became despondent.

During this period, the latter part of the eighteenth century, Venice set the fashion in all matters of amusement, just as under the second empire in France Paris set the fashions in woman's dress. From the City of the Sea a mania for masquerading and gambling spread over Europe. In London people were accustomed to go about to gambling and dancing houses, and matters finally came to such a pass that the city government decided to raid a notorious dance house in Soho. A few hours before the raid was made the lord mayor, dining at a fashionable club, revealed the proposed descent to a companion. The latter begged to be permitted to accompany the force sent for the purpose disguised as a policeman, and leave was given. By the lord mayor's order he was enrolled and uniformed as a special policeman.

Reverly was in full swing at the dance house when a policeman, followed by others, entered the place. Locked the door behind him and posted a man at each point of egress with orders to permit no one to pass out. Nearly all those present were masked. The dance came to a sudden halt, the dancers standing stock still in their places. Then the officer of police called:

"All unmask."

Some endeavored to pass the policemen at the points of exit, but were driven back. Some endeavored to hide under the furniture or behind curtains, but they were pulled out. It was a slow process, but one by one they were all pushed on to the open floor and forced to uncover their faces.

What was the amazement of the police to discover that at least a third of the company consisted of ladies and gentlemen of the highest aristocracy. A policeman stepped up to a lady, furious at her exposure, her eyes snapping, her foot stamping the floor, and, doffing his hat respectfully, said to her:

"My service to your ladyship. I've come to ask which is worse, taking purses on the highway or frequenting low dance houses?"

The lady looked at him, stupefied for a moment, then exclaimed:

"Alfred Tillotson, what does this mean?"

"That a highwayman has joined the police. You would not have me as a lawbreaker, so I became one of those whose business it is to punish law-breakers."

"How dare you speak to me when I have persistently cut you?" she cried angrily.

"Clara, I can get you out of this."

"Oh, Alfred!"

"I knew you the moment I entered the room. You have not been recognized. Put on your mask and come with me."

Donning the mask and slipping her hand on his arm, the two walked out of the hall and, entering a carriage, were driven away.

"Who was your escort to this select party?" asked Tillotson.

"Father. I forgot all about him."

"He won't suffer, being in good company. Nearly all our best families were represented. But, Clara, if one who attends dance houses is too good for a highwayman, don't you think she could condescend to marry a policeman?"

There was no reply. He felt for her hand, found it, and it was not withdrawn.

The next morning all London rang with the news that the nobility had attended a dance house in Soho, and many names were mentioned as participants in the festivities. But the name of Lady Clara Travis was not among them. She never afterward forgot this service of her husband.

Attractive Play Coming

"Come Back to Erin," one of the prettiest Irish plays now before the public, with Chas. E. Mack in the party of Larry Dillon will be the attraction at Love's hall two nights, commencing on Saturday, November 19th.

That this play has been doing a tremendous business for the past two seasons is the best possible evidence that it has met with popular approval. It is different from other Irish plays, in that it does not rely upon buffoonery—monkey-faced makeups, and a lot of slap-stick comedy for its popularity. Irishmen all over the country are unanimous in their praise of the play and star, and indorse them by a liberal patronage. Yet one does not have to be an Irishman to enjoy this performance, any more than one has to be a Frenchman to enjoy "The Thief." Its appeal is to the man or woman who delights in a snappy clean comedy, interspersed with folks songs, characteristic dances, and sparkling comedy. The old Irish melodies sung by Mr Mack and others of the company, are those which will live forever and are enshrined in the hearts of Irishmen everywhere. The company carry their own scenery, which has been reproduced from photos taken in Ireland. A large company is necessary to interpret the play, and has been selected because of the fitness for their different parts. The prices will be 50 and 75 cents, children 25 cents. Seats now on sale at Spagnoli's drug store.

ORGANIZER LEAVES TOWN

Attempt Made to Form Another Union In Jackson

A representative of Western Federation of Miners has been in Jackson for several weeks, quietly working with the object of organizing another local union in this town. His name is Roy Cameron. Various reports are current as to the success he is meeting with in his mission. One story says that he has secured the signatures of from seventy to eighty intending members. This is probably an exaggeration, designed to bolster up the cause, and induce others to join under the impression that the movement is popular with the miners. On the other hand, it is said, from eight to ten men have been secured, and these from the foreign element. The idea is held out that the wages are low in the mining camps of Amador county, and that by organization they can be raised and so forth. The credulous workers jump at such representations, especially when presented with that forcefulness born of long practice in the art of fooling the toilers which the walking delegates usually have acquired. It should be borne in mind that the organizer is paid five dollars per day by the Federation, and also receives $1 per every member enrolled in the new union. This is quite an inducement to perseverance, and as long as there is the ghost of a show of success the agitator will stay with the movement. If not for the good of the miner, at least for the money that is in it for himself.

There is very little discussion among the underground workers regarding the movement, and it is not favored by the miners generally. They are not courting any more trouble with the owners. The experience they have had with unionism in this section does not hold out much promise of gain. In Grass Valley the members of the union there are kicking against the heavy cost entailed by assessments to aid striking members in other states. They have been paying $1 per month for this purpose, and the treasury is said to be exhausted, and the payment of sick benefits suspended.

Cameron left Jackson by stage yesterday morning, whether for good or not we do not know.

Croup is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's cough remedy. Many mothers are never without it in their homes and it has never disappointed them. Sold by all dealers.

A Defective Information

In the cases of People vs J. M. Coffman and People vs John Delucchi, who are alleged to have committed an assault with intent to commit murder upon one Manuel Lopez at Amador City several weeks ago, a funny condition is presented by the informations on file in the superior court. An examination of the papers disclosed the fact that the defendant in each case was charged with an assault upon himself. The court, upon discovering the defect, issued the following order in each case:

Whereas, the information filed herein against the above-named defendant, charges him with an assault with intent to kill and murder himself, and whereas, it appears from an inspection of the testimony taken at the preliminary examination that if any offense was committed by him it was that of making an assault upon one Manuel Lopez, with intent to kill and murder the said Lopez.

It is ordered that the defendant be and appear in this court on Tuesday November 15, 1910, to show cause why an order should not be made either for the dismissal of said action, or allowing the district attorney to file a new or amended information against the defendant. It is further ordered that the sheriff forthwith serve a copy of this order upon the said defendant.

The sheriff went over to Amador City and served the orders upon the defendants, and they appeared in court on Tuesday. At their request the cases were continued until the 17th.

On Thursday new informations were filed, and the time of trial set for Monday, November 28.

Many school children suffer from constipation, which is often the cause of seeming stupidity at lessons. Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets are an ideal medicine to give a child, for they are mild and gentle in their effect, and will cure even chronic constipation. Sold by all dealers.

An Estate Unsettled For Forty Years.

A petition was recently filed in the superior court asking for the appointment L. W. Robbins as administrator of the estate of Mary Walker, who was appointed as such upon filing a bond of $100. It appears the deceased died in 1869, and in November of that year George W. Walker, her husband, was appointed administrator of the estate. An order for notice to creditors was made, and it now seems that the notice was published in the Amador Dispatch early in 1870, but no affidavit of publication filed nor decree made establishing notice to creditors. By virtue of his position, Walker, the administrator, conveyed to I. J. Crabtree, 640 acres of land in lone valley. The administrator has long since died, and the estate has remained unsettled with this cloud resting upon the title to the valuable tract of and conveyed. The impression prevailed that everything had been finished satisfactorily, and the estate closed, until the matter came to be looked into. To straighten out the records, and close the estate, and thereby clear the title to the 640 acres, a new administrator has been appointed forty one years after the death of the deceased.
